Hello to all our amazing customers.

It's time to hibernate.

We stayed open to support our customers till we were down to a tiny trickle of orders each day and businesses sent their staff home to be safe.

Our incredible and dedicated team of delivery drivers, warehouse pickers and office staff have been working hard 24hrs a day to help customers during this stressful time. We are happy to be there to support you on the front lines with supplies to keep your staff safe and comfortable.

Now it's our turn at Lykki to do the right thing to keep our staff safe and send them home. It is a difficult decision to make for a small business and we apologize if we inconvenience any customers.

Rest assured Lykki will be here when all our wonderful customers are ready to return to the office. We will be there with the coffee, fruit, milk, snacks and all the supplies to kick start things again. All we ask is to please remember us and support us. Buying local and supporting small business will be paramount to the economy recovering quickly.

We will monitor the situation and keep communication flowing so we are ready to spring into action again and support you all.

Our chat, email and phones will keep running Monday to Friday 8:30am till 5pm. If you have an outstanding balance on your account – please continue to honor your terms and send payment.

Any orders for delivery will need to be placed by 4pm today for delivery tomorrow. After 4pm today we will not accept orders till further notice.

Stay safe and we will see you soon!
